NEW BUSINESS: Keith Stripling, President of the FCPA, came to our monthly meeting and informed the members of what is happening in the state level. He also spoke about what is happening with the upcoming conference in October. Keith stated the conference planning is going well and they are receiving a good response from other states as well as Florida. They have several vendors lined up for the conference already but others are welcomed to contact the FCPA for information on how to become a vendor if interested. Keith also stated FASRO information has been put on the FCPA website for SRO'S to download in interested. The 2009 conference has been discussed and it maybe somewhere in the center of the state, they are looking into several locations. We want to thank Keith for coming to our meeting and keeping us informed of what is happening. We wish him and the FCPA great success with the conference and hope to see everyone there.

ROUNDTABLE:

Sonitrol: Working with UCF students on a project to see the effects of crime and LEO response.

August 18, 2008

Dear Chief/Sheriff:

On behalf of the Florida Crime Prevention Association (FCPA) I want to start by saying how much we appreciate and value your agency's support over these many years. The FCPA is the oldest crime prevention association in the United States, and over the years, the FCPA has continued to offer crime prevention training through our annual conference.

The 2008 Southern States Crime Prevention Training Conference in Sandestin, Florida, is only a couple of months away. We understand that with the passage of Amendment I, many of our law enforcement partners need to find ways to make their budget go further so this year's conference will bring together the best training methods that have been developed by the leaders in law enforcement. For the first time we have brought together instructors from such prestigious organizations as the National Sheriff's Association, International Association of Chief's of Police, National Crime Prevention Council, Volunteers in Police Service (VIPS), American Crime Prevention Institute and the Seniors vs. Crime Program of the Florida Attorney General's Office to name just a few. And it doesn't stop there. The association has gone even further to assist in your budgetary considerations. For every three paid registrations you will get an additional one for free. Think about it, you can provide world class training to four people for the price of three.

Our conference has been divided in to three training tracks; basic, youth and senior crime prevention. Each is designed to address community issues and to provide a wide range of information along with the skills necessary to deal with these topics. The breakout sessions are tailored to the needs of today's crime prevention practitioners, and will place great emphasis on programmatic initiatives giving the practitioners the knowledge, tools and resources to do their jobs successfully.

This training opportunity is perfect for crime prevention officers and staff, school resource officers, volunteers, crime watch participants, and any other member of the community who is interested in learning more about crime prevention and the issues that face our communities every day.

We are happy to see that many law enforcement agencies from the southern United States have already registered and look forward to the discussions and ideas they will bring to the field of crime fighting. We hope you too will take advantage of this training opportunity. We look forward to seeing members from your agency in Sandestin in October 2008. In the meantime, please visit our website www.FloridaCrimePrevention.org. You may register online or by completing the enclosed registration form. If you have any questions, or would like to learn more about our organization and conference details, please contact us at 863-763-6064.

Yours in service,

Keith Stripling, President
Florida Crime Prevention Association
